Milwaukie Daily Sentinel.

☞ Advertisements must be handed in before three o'clock in the afternoon of each day, to insure insertion in the next morning's paper.

Monday Morning, December 8.

Our First Birthday.

The Milwaukie Daily Sentinel is a year old to-day. It is just a twelve-month since the first number was issued. If the reader can lay his hand on that first number and compare it with to-day's paper he will see that the Sentinel has grown in size and improved in appearance quite as much as yearlings usually do. At the outset it was presented on a small five-column sheet; within the year it has attained to a six-column size, and the increased length of our columns, together with the use of finer type, has doubled our room for reading matter and advertisements. A month ago we procured from Buffalo an entire new dress for the paper, which, as we think our readers will admit, has greatly improved its looks. We have gradually added, moreover, to the amount of reading matter, until we now give five columns in the Daily and twenty-five in the Weekly.

These several improvements have been made partly in pursuance of a promise given at the outset and partly because we desire to make the Sentinel worthy of Milwaukie and Wisconsin, and deserving of the favor and patronage it has always enjoyed. Nor do we propose to stop here. If our subscription list and advertising and job custom continue to increase through the winter, as they have done for a few months past, we shall enlarge our Daily in the spring and issue a semi-Weekly as well as a Weekly Sentinel. It is our purpose, too, in the course of the year, to order a power press from the East, which will give us greatly increased facilities for working off our several editions. By these and other contemplated improvements we hope to make the Milwaukie Sentinel, in substance as well as in show, all that its best friends and patrons could wish it to be.

Our Territorial Legislature,

This body is to assemble at Madison on the first Monday in January The Milwaukie Courier and Wisconsin Argus, both count upon a short session; and inasmuch as the appropriation from the General Government is a very niggardly one, we presume that this expectation will not be disappointed. The Argus explains how it comes to pass that the means to defray the expenses of the session are so small. The appropriation for the present year, is $13,700; but upon this sum there is a charge, says the Argus, of $2000 for last year's legislative expenses, and $2000 for printing. Thus but $9700 is left to meet the expenses of the coming session. Of course, as an appropriation of $17,250 last year proved to be $1000 less than the actual expenditures, it is not likely that half that sum will suffice for this year. We confess that we do not regard this necessity for a short session as a very serious calamity. There is much more danger of our Legislative bodies doing what they had better leave undone, than of their leaving undone what they ought to do. Besides a short session compels our Legislators to economize their words and to prove the sincerity of their professions by deeds. We rather rejoice, therefore, that the scant supplies in the Territorial treasury will ensure us a session of moderate length, and of more work than talk. Nevertheless, it behooves all those who have anything to ask of the Legislature, to be ready with their petitions at the opening of the Session.

Navy Yard near Detroit.—The Detroit Daily Advertiser mentions that an effort will be made this winter to induce the Navy Department at Washington to establish a Navy Yard on the River Rouge. The spot recommended is about three miles from Detroit River and in the rear of the new Fort. The Rouge, according to the Advertiser, has sufficient water for any class of vessels needed on the Lakes, and its narrow and crooked channel renders the approach and attack of boats very difficult. These are good reasons for the establishment of a Navy Yard at the point indicated, but, in our humble judgment, there are better ones against it. Neither the "new Fort," nor the "narrow and crooked channel of the Rouge," would deter an enterprising enemy from making frequent attempts to destroy a Navy Yard located within three miles of the frontier. Though we should line the Detroit River with troops and keep guard-boats constantly moving upon the water, sooner or later an opportunity would offer for fitting out and despatching an expedition from the Canada side to attack the contemplated Navy Yard on Rouge River. John Bull is not the one to let such opportunities slip by unimproved. It seems to us, therefore, that the establishment of a Navy Yard and Depot so near the frontier would be an unnecessary and wanton exposure of the public property.

If a Navy Yard is to be established on the Lakes (we confess we do not look for one from the "Texas" Administration) the most obvious considerations point to Lake Michigan as the proper site for it. There are half-a-dozen admirable locations for such an establishment on either shore of this Lake. A navy yard at Chicago, Milwaukie, St. Joseph's or Grand River would be hundreds of miles out of harm's way. At the same time provisions, timber and labor could always be procured here, in any desired quantities and at the cheapest rates. But why discuss a question which has but one side to it? If we are ever to have a Naval Depot on the Lakes, it will be located somewhere on the shores of Michigan, of course. This Lake is wholly within our Territory, and it is fringed all round with thriving settlements and a hardy, industrious and growing population.—The other lakes are held in "joint occupancy" with Great Britain, and are only half ours.

Heirs Wanted.—A Mr. Bradley Pease died some months since in Louisiana, leaving about $4,000, for which there is no claimant. He is said to have been from Vermont, and has a sister living near Lake Champlain. If the heirs don't get the money the State will.

Another Soldier of the American Revolution Fallen.—Died, at his residence in Nassau, Rensselaer county, N. Y., where he had lived ever since 1782—sixty-three years ago—when his farm was a desolate wilderness—Major Abijah Bush, on the 19th inst., aged 91 years.

☞ "Lexington, Concord, and Bunker Hill" are redeemed, and will be represented by Whigs in the Massachusetts Legislature the coming winter.

Love on the Ocean.

"Oh! is there not something, dear Augustus, truly sublime in this warring of the elements!" But Augustus' heart was too full to speak—[MS, Novel by Lady ——.

They met, 'twas in a storm,
On the deck of a steamer;
She spoke in a language warm
Like a sentimental dreamer.
He spoke—at least he tried;
His position he altered;
Then he turn'd his face aside,
And his deep-ton'd voice falter'd.

She gazed upon the wave,
Sublime she declared it;
But no reply he gave—
He could not have dared it.
A breeze came from the south,
Across the billows sweeping;
His heart was in his mouth,
And out he thought 'twas leaping.

"O, then, steward," he cried,
With the deepest emotion;
Then tottered to the side,
And leant o'er the ocean.
The world may think him cold,
But they'll pardon him with quickness,
When the fact they shall be told,
That he suffer'd from sea-sickness. [Punch.

Proper Subjects of Inquiry.—As Congress is now in session, and may want something to do, we respectfully suggest that they appoint Committees to inquire and report, 1st, How many members of the last Congress have received appointments in consideration of their having voted for Texas. 2d, How many "Virginians" have been turned out of, and how many "Tennesseeans" put into, office, under President Polk. 3d, What mysterious motive prompted the Secretary of War to send our "army of occupation" into Texas, without tools, horses, or artillery?

Mrs. Caudle Philosophizing.—Mrs. Caudle says:—"Yes, it's all very well to talk about fortunes made in no time; they're like shirts made in no time—it's ten to one if they hang long together."

For the Milwaukie Sentinel.

Mr. Editor:—It has been frequently stated in private conversation and also in a public meeting, as a justification for the nuisances created by the Board of Trustees all over the East Ward, that they had no option in the matter, but were compelled to comply with the petitions for sidewalks. To show the utter absurdity of this pretence, it is only necessary to refer to Section eight of the charter, which is as follows:—That upon application of two-thirds of the inhabitants resident on any street, or part of a street, or on the application of the owners of two thirds of the property on any such street, or part of a street, it shall be lawful for the Board of Trustees to levy and collect a special tax on the owners, &c. Now this is the only authority the Trustees have for their proceedings, and the whole matter is discretionary; there is no compulsion about it, the amendment of 1842 not altering the original charter in this respect.

Again, it is pretended that the Trustees have not power to apply the funds raised by taxation to the maintenance of fire engines, or other similar objects; whereas by Section nine, of the original charter, it is expressly provided that the taxes shall be expended in making such improvements, or for other purposes, &c., as shall be determined by the Trustees elected by each Ward. CIVIS.

From the Milwaukie Courier.

Bar Wit.—A somewhat notorious person, who lately applied to President Polk for the appointment of Consul to Cork, entered the Court Room at Mineral Point, evidently about "half seas over," when Gen. S. remarked that if the aspirant had never been in Ireland, he must have seen late drawings of Cork.

To what "bar," neighbor, does "Gen. S." who is is made to father the above, belong?

Frightened at a Gong.—We have heard a funny story told of a young fellow, residing in one of the tobacco growing counties of Virginia, who recently made his first visit to Richmond, the capital of the Old Dominion, for the purpose of selling his crop, seeing the sights, and rubbing off some of the rust which his backwoods "fetching up" had thrown upon manners.

He reached Richmond about the middle of the forenoon, and was fortunate in selling his crop at an advantageous rate and almost immediately. Meeting with an old school fellow—one who had lived in the city long enough to know its ways—he was advised to take up his lodging at Boyden's, the crack house of the place, and thither he at once went with baggage. Just before dinner his country friend called upon him, and found him comfortably located in a room just at the head of the first stairs. It was close upon dinner time.

"Supposing we take something to start an appetite," said the chap who had just "come down."

"Agreed," rejoined his city friend, "a glass of wine and bitters for me."

"Let's go down to the bar and get it—dinner's most ready," continued the tobacco grower.

"We might as well have it up here," was the rejoinder.

"Good luck; but how are we to call for it?"

"Ring that bell there."

"What bell?"

"Pull that rope hanging there."

The young fellow laid hold of the rope and gave it a jerk, and just at that moment the gong sounded for dinner. Never had he heard such a sound before, and the rumbling crash came upon his ear with a report that stunned him. He staggered back from the rope, raised both hands in horror and exclaimed,

"Great Jerusalem, what a smash! I've broke every piece of crockery in the house. There aint a whole dish left! You must stick by me, old fellow," addressing his friend,—"don't leave me in this scrape, for my whole crop won't half pay the breakage. What did you tell me to touch that cursed rope for?"

But before his friend, who was all but bursting with laughter, could answer, a servant entered his room with,

"Did you ring the bell, sir?"

"Bell, no, d—n your bell; I never touched a bell in my life; what bell? I never saw your bell."

"Somebody rung the bell of this room, that's certain," continued the servant.

"No, they did'nt There's nobody here that ever saw a bell"—and then turning to his friend he exclaimed aside, "Let's lie him out of it; I shan't have a cent left to get home if I pay the entire damage. What do they set such rascally traps as that for, to take in folks from the country?"

After a violent fit of laughter, the friend was enabled to explain that it was only the gong sounding for dinner—a simple summons to "walk down to soup" got up on the Chinese plan. They made their way to the dining room, but it was some time before the young tobacco-grower could get over the stunning and awful effects of that dreadful gong—"It was a God-send," he said, "that the crash did not turn his hair gray on the spot."
[N. O. Picayune.

☞ Gov. Lucas sent a sample of Indigo seed in 1739 to his daughter in Charleston, she being fond of plants. She sowed it and succeeded in raising it, and from this small beginning 1,000,000 lbs. were exported to England previous to the war of the revolution in 1775. The first cotton there was raised in 1680. In 1747, seven bags were exported to England, value $78.

The Flour Trade.

A writer in the Perry Democrat, in the course of an article proving the inadequacy of the wheat crop of America to supply the wants of Europe, estimates the annual consumption of wheat in the United Kingdom of Great Britain at 170,000,000 bushels, and the annual average production at 150,000,000—leaving an average deficiency of 20,000,000.—In 1844, in consequence of the increased crop this deficiency was only 11,267,600. The crop this year is estimated as at least two-thirds of the average, or one hundred millions of bushels—showing a deficiency of seventy millions.

"In looking to the continent, and to the ports from whence a supply has heretofore been obtained, says the writer, we find that in Holland the crops are short; and that the Government has reduced the duties on all kinds of foreign grain to the lowest minimum point. In Belgium, in consequence of a deficiency, all restrictions on the import of foreign wheat have been entirely removed. In the Baltic ports, all the stock has been taken up, and in the Black Sea all the surplus wheat has been purchased to supply the deficiency in Italy, where the crops have also failed. Thus it seems that the very ports which have heretofore furnished England with all she wanted cannot now supply her with a single cargo; on the contrary, they are short themselves, and have in fact become purchasers instead of sellers, and it would seem that the only place where a surplus exists is the United States."

Our wheat crop the present year according to the estimate of this writer may be set down at 120,000,000 of bushels; of which 80 millions will be required for the home market, and 10 million for South America, leaving 30 millions for England and the continent. This estimate of the deficiency abroad, made before the late intelligence from Europe, is much too low; and the adequacy of our means to supply it is considerably underrated. The proportion between the supply for the home and that of the foreign market, must be greatly changed by the strong traction which the latter will exert on the former, under the pressure which now weighs on it. We are capable of getting along with a home supply much more limited than that to which we have accustomed ourselves. Notwithstanding the failure of the potato crop which forms generally an important supplement to breadstuffs as an article of consumption, there are in rice, and the cheaper substitutes for wheat, the Indian corn, rye, &c., and still more in the greater economy of its use, a means of considerably increasing the proportion of our exportations beyond that of all former years.

The rise in price from August last, when it was about $4 25, to the present range $7, upon this vast amount of production, seems to realise a wonderful and almost incredible increase of wealth to the country. Calculating the rise from the lowest to the highest point, ($2 75 per barrel of flour) there would be, taking the estimate referred to as the basis, an enhancement of price on the whole crop of 66 millions of dollars—of which from 22 to 30 millions would be profit realized in the foreign market, and an actual accession to national wealth to that amount. But the accession of price has been by firm and equal gradation—and on what has been thus far forwarded to the foreign market, the producer shares with the shipper an average profit much lower than that measured by the present range. To the agricultural community, the increase of price is increase of wealth. On the total of production, all the profit that has been, and all that will be realized in foreign markets, is a national gain, in which, under the beneficient operations of the laws of trade, all classes will share. But the increase which is derived in the home market, will not be a general gain, but a flowing of means from all other classes [illegible] agricultural interest, and the employ- [illegible] nate to it, and though this must [illegible] time, its first operations will be [illegible] dant and fertilizing streams its rich [illegible] the great farming interest of the country.

We add from a tabular statement prepared for Hunt's Magazine for September, a list of prices of flour in New York city in November of each year, for the last 22 years. It will be seen that the present price has been exceeded in several instances—but in some of those instances it has been the result of the shortness of the crop, or the inflation of the currency, and there is probably no parallel within the designated period of the concurrence of an over abundant crop, and so great an appreciation of its value as at present:

Anecdote of Mr. Legare.

The American Review for October contains an interesting biographical sketch of Hugh S Legare, of South Carolina, in which occurs the following anecdote illustrating his power as an advocate:

It was the case of Pell and Wife, versus, the Executors of Ball The circumstances of the case were these:—A Miss Channing, daughter of Mr. Walter Channing, (a merchant of Boston) had married a Mr Ball of South Carolina and carried him a fortune without any settlement. Mr. Ball, by his last will and testament, bequeathed to his wife all of his fortune. Embarking at Charleston, for a visit to the north on board the ill fated steamboat Pulaski, which blew up at sea on the coast of North Carolina, in 1835, they both perished in that awful catastrophe. The question in the case was, which survived the other? If Mrs. Ball, then the legacy vested in her, and was transmissable to her sisters; if her husband, then the legacy had lapsed, fell into the residue of the estate, and went to his family.

Mr. Legare was engaged on behalf of Mrs Ball's sisters. On the one side it was contended that the husband, being the stronger, must have survived; and the doctrines of Civil Law on the subject of survivorship were relied on. Here, however, Legare was a master, and showed that all these presumptions must yield to positive testimony. After the catastrophe, Mrs. Ball was seen flying wildly about the wreck, her voice heard above others, calling for her husband, Availing himself of this single but affecting fact—all that in the wild terror of such a scene could be known—Legare converted it by the tragic powers of his eloquence, into an irresistible proof that the tender husband, whose name the wife shrieked forth so distractedly, must have already perished. Upon the narrow theatre of that shattered deck, there was enacted, he said, a scene, to paint which, all that the imagination of poetry could invent of the most pathetic must fail. "She called upon the husband upon whom she had never called in vain—upon whose arm she had ever leaned in danger—her stay, her rescue! She called, but he never answered; no sir, he was dead! he was dead!"

Mrs. Ball's sisters gained the suit, as also another point in the case which he argued—that the legacy was general and not specific.

A Modest Lover.—A crack-brained man, who was slighted by the females, very modestly asked a young lady "if she would let him spend the evening with her?" "No," she angrily replied, "that's what I won't." "Why," replied he, "you needn't be so fussy; I didn't mean this evening, but some stormy one when I can't go anywhere else."

A Sermon from the Leaves.

Next to the Bible, there is nothing that speaks more powerfully or beautifully than the seasons,

Spring comes with the laughing mirth and freshness of the young child. Nature assumes a roseate hue, and joy is written upon all God's works. How cheerfully we watch the budding leaves and unfolding flower. This is like the dawn of life. The young mind lives in the present glory, and sees not the future.

Summer comes. Nature is developed. The earth's carpet is spread; the trees wave their perfect foliage; the flowers are in their gorgeous bloom. Heaven has impressed upon creation the highest perfection. One can hardly realize that these are perishable. So it is with the early noon of life. We see man in the pride of his greatness and strength, and woman in the surpassing glory of her beauty—but see not the invisible mortality growing beneath.

But Autumn is here. And now the flowers have drooped, and the "sear and yellow leaf" has fallen from the chilled tree. The cold blast has driven away the warm atmosphere, redolent with perfume. Death is written upon Nature and Winter's white shroud will be soon thrown over her corpse. So it is with life. The changing seasons teach us a mournful lesson, and yet in him whose heart is right it is beautiful as mournful.

The death of nature is not an everlasting sleep, ere many months it shall cast off its funeral gear, and spring up from its grave with new life, and bud and blossom as before. Nature never dies, but it rests from its labors.

Thus it is with human existence. The great principle of vitality in nature is equally applicable to the spiritual as to the animal economy. The intellect may throw its vision beyond the snows of life's dreary winter, and see itself in the bloom of an eternal existence.—We pity the man who esteems hmiself of less value in the estimation of Heaven than the mute tree or soulless flower.—[Portland American.

Western Eloquence.

From the Newark (N. J.) Advertiser.

The following sketch of the oratory of the Hon. Thomas Corwin, late Governor of Ohio, and now a United States Senator, is from an article on Western Eloquence in the Biblical Repository, by the Rev. Joseph Tuttle, former ly of New Jersey. The writer thinks that Gov. C. combines more of the faults and excellencies of Western speaking than any other man; and therefore selects him as a sample. He makes the following just remarks on the difficulties and advantage with which Western speakers have to contend.

"The heterogeneous character of Western audiences opposes no ordinary barrier to the highest success in eloquence, and results in two marked characteristics: excessive caution in alluding to any thing calculated to excite prejudice in a mixed multitude and the use of appeals founded on principles so broad and incontrovertible as to be universally admitted.

"Whether these are favorable to the growth of eloquence, let others decide; and yet facts stand out prominently, showing that vast masses of the men at the West have been moved by such means as when a tempest rushes over the calm ocean, stirring its lowest depths, and marshalling the world of waters into contending waves."

The remarkable oratory of Gov. Corwin is strikingly illustrated in the following incident:

"Perhaps nothing contributes more to the effect of his well chosen words than his face. which is altoge her a 'none-such.' That swarthy face is a noble one, and there is no passion or feeling in his heart but is proclaimed by his countenance before words can utter it. It is a magic mirror, reflecting upon his auditors wrath, contempt, patriotism, pity, ridicule, sarcasm, so strikingly, that all feel themselves sympathizing with him in emotions not yet articulated. Those who were witnesses will never forget the indescribable drollery of his tones, gestures, and physiognomy, in 1840, at Columbus, whilst answering the objections of some man-of-straw antagonist. Mr. C., at one time, was to address a multitude the succeeding day. The citizens of Franklin county waylaid him, and compelled him, although greatly exhausted, to speak. His strain of remark was uncommonly brilliant, seeming to transcend his usual efforts. He supposed an honest inquirer and opponent to be proposing questions in reference to the cry that 'times are killing hard.' 'Why, my dear sir,' says the opponent, 'how can it be possible that so much trouble and hard times exist, and yet the men whom we have elected to office—in whom we have unshaken confidence, never whispered a word of all this? Sir, you must be mistaken, or our officeholders would speak!' Mr. C.'s countenance was the very impersonation of the 'serio comico' gravity whilst stating this objection. Then began that droll working of his features, at the very sight of which, before he had said a word, hundreds found it impossible not to laugh outright. 'Fellow-citizens,' said he, in deliberate tones, 'I ever allude to the Holy Scriptures with the deepest reverence, and on occasions like the present but seldom; but that venerable patriarch, Job, has so completely unravelled the difficulty of my honest opponent that I must trespass to quote his words: 'Doth a wild beast bray while he hath grass, or loweth the ox over his fodder?' By this time his form was bent down toward his hearers, his fun speaking eye was glancing from one countenance to another, and his whole face radiant with inimitable queerness. Who could resist it? Sedate old men held their sides to roar; the younger portion stamped and screamed with laughter till the tears started. Peals of laughter succeeded peal so rapidly and boisterously as to preclude the possibility of speaking for some minutes. Had some old Roman pantomine witnessed the swarthy face of 'Tom, the Wagon-boy,' as his constituents sometimes affectionately term him, effecting such prodigies, he would have died of sheer envy!"

General Scott, says the N. Y. Evening Gazette, illustrious by his achievements in the field, is yet noted for his wise and considerate efforts to preserve peace. His services in this behalf were eminently useful at a critical period of our boundary disputes with England, prior to the Washington treaty. We find some sentiments of his quoted in an exchange paper, which seem worthy of especial consideration at this time. "If war be the natural state of savage tribes," says Gen Scott,—"peace is the first want of every civilized community. War, no doubt, is under any circumstances, a great calamity; yet submission to outrage would often be a greater calamity. Of the two parties to any war, one at least must be in the wrong—not unfrequently both. An error, in such an issue, is on the part of chief magistrates, ministers of state and legislators, having a voice in the question, a crime of infinite magnitude The murder of an individual is, in guilt, comparatively but a drop of blood"

"Hence the highest moral obligation to treat national differences with temper, justness and fairness; to see that the cause of war is not only just but sufficient; to see that we do not covet our neighbor's land, 'nor anything that is his;' that we are as ready to give as to demand explanation, apology, indemnity. In short, we should especially remember, "all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them.' This divine precept is of universal obligation. It is as applicable to rulers in their transactions with other nations, as to private individuals in their daily intercourse with each other.—Power is entrusted to the former to do good and to avoid evil. Such, clearly, is the revealed will of God."

☞ The steamer Champion, Capt. Ward, arrived here at 4 A. M. on Saturday from Chicago, and left again about noon, on her return.

Mental Hallucination.—There is an honest Jack-tar in this city who imagines himself to be a Baltimore clipper, with raking masts, scudding under bare poles. He may be seen daily walking up and down the Levee, leaning back at an angle of about five degrees from a perpendicular. The only time of the day when he is free from this strange delusion is "grog time," when he is ready to lend a hand to "splice the main brace" with any shipmate he may overhaul.—[N. O. Pic.

A Clever Pun.—A lady in Calcutta asked Col. Ironsides for a mangoe; as he rolled it along the table, it fell into a plate of kissmiss, a kind of grape very common in the East Indies, upon which Dr. Hunter, a gentleman as noted for his wit as for skill in his profession, neatly observed, "How naturally man-goes to kiss-miss"

Family Jars.—One Jesse Floyd advertises his wife, Nancy, as having left him without provocation. He says. "I am determined to pay no debts of her contracting. She is a trifling, good for nothing jade, 'any way you can fix it'" To this Nancy replies that Jesse had "cleared the kitchen," leaving her his children to feed, without a cent of money. She says, "I made him a good wife—but he is a sour, ill-natured, reel-footed and bandy-legged scamp."

"Mort! more Mort!"—Mr. ———, a mason by trade, having worked hard all the week, was disposed, while at church on Sunday, to refresh himself by a snooze. He had kept awake till the preacher had progressed some in his sermon, when he fell into a sound sleep, and dreaming in his soporific obliviousness that he was about his work, he cried out in a stentorian voice, "Mort! more Mort!" The effect upon the congregation may be imagined.—[Portland Argus.

Professional Candor.—A staid and demure looking quaker lady called on our neighbor, Dr. Christie, a few days since. "Will the Galvanic Rings cure depression of spirits?" asked the lady. "What has caused the complaint, madam?" replied the doctor. "The loss of my husband," mournfully ejaculated the lady. "Then you had better get a wedding ring," said the doctor. Exit the lady to do the same.—[N. Y. Mirror.

The greatest farce of the day is the attempt to make believe, as the chhildren say, that the Administration is squaring all its actions by the 'Resolutions of the Baltimore Convention,' and that the people in the late election adopted those resolutions as their rule of political faith, and the chart by which the ship of State is hereafter to be steered! Why, one-half of the members of that Convention never read the resolution that were adopted!
[Alexandria Gazette.

The first steamer that crossed the Atlantic was the Sirius, which left Cork on the 4th April 1838, and arrived in this city on the 23d. She left New York again on the 1st of May, and arrive in Cork on the 19th. The Great Western was the second, and by far the most successful Atlantic steamer. She left Bristol on her maiden trip on the 8th April, and arrived in this city on the 23d; and left New York the 8th May following, and reached Bristol on the 22d.

The Adjourned Meeting

Will be held at the Military Hall on Wednesday evening next, at 7 o'clock. As much important business remains to be acted upon, it is hoped that all who feel an interest in the prosperity of our city and Territory will attend.

☞ DONATION VISIT—The friends of the Rev. LEWIS RAYMOND are invited to a Donation Visit at his residence, corner of Oneida and Van Buren streets, on Thursday evening next, 11th inst.

☞ Its Reputation is established! Hundreds in this Territory can testify to the curative properties of the genuine "Doct. Grandjean's Magic Balsam," in the treatment of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, &c. You who are suffering under this troublesome disease, procure this remedy and get cured. It has cured hundreds—nay, thousands; and it will cure you. It is sold by CUNNINGHAM.

☞ The Weather.—Winter has really set in—the evidences that we have had of it for the last week cannot be contradicted. It behooves us all to keep the body well clad, and prepare the system against coughs, colds, &c., which are more prevalent at this season of the year than at any other time; for these purposes we recommend "Bloodgood's Improved Fluid Extract of Sarsaparilla."—It is the best preparation of Sarsaparilla now before the public. Price 75 cents per bottle, or six bottles for $4.—It is sold in Milwaukie by CUNNINGHAM.

THE MARKETS.

Office of the Daily Sentinel, }
Milwaukie, Saturday Dec. 6, 1845. }

The receipts for wheat during the past week have been fair, and prices, under the influence of the news from the East, have advanced materially. They have ranged today between 90 and 93 cents, the majority of samples commanding the highest price named. From the inquiries we have made we are inclined to think that the bulk of the crop is yet back, though it may be that one half of it has come in. The news of the present high prices as it circulates through the interior, will swell the tide of produce seeking a market. Flour has advanced considerably. We hear of no sales except at retail and at $5.—Oats are in brisk demand at 25@26. Barley is worth 30@35; Corn 31¼@37½; Buckwheat $1,25 per cwt.

In provisions we quote Pork as selling readily at $4½@$5, with a good supply. Beef is steady at $2,50. Potatoes 25. Butter 13@16.

Wood brings 12 shillings a cord. The weather, throughout the week, has been very fine; a clear atmosphere, bracing air and bright sunshine. A foot of snow would make everything complete. Business continues active and prosperous in an eminent degree.

DETROIT, Dec.2—There was a great deal of inactivity in the flour market yesterday, prices are very unsettled, and very few sales were made. It sold from wagons at $4 50@4 75—wheat at 90@93, and very little coming in. Pork brings readily from $4 50@4 75, and $5 for large.

BUFFALO, Nov. 29.—In the market here is very little doing. We heard of the sale of 3000 bush. Monroe wheat at a figure so extraordinary high, that it cannot be taken as a fair market quotation, consequently we decline giving it; and some 500 bush. Chicago, received per brig St. Louis, at a price in the neighborhood of $1 12½. In flour we notice the sale of 1000 bbls. Michigan at $5 50. Provisions continue inactive. Some 325 summer pelts sold at 16cts, and a small lot of dry trimmed hides at 8c.

NEW-YORK, Nov. 27.—Ashes—The market is steady and firm—Pots $4 81—Pearls $4 31.

Flour—This is a dull and stormy day, there is but little doing—$6 75 is the top of the market, for Genesee, Ohio and Michigan, $6 62½.

Grain—A sale of 3500 bu. Western wheat at 136c. A sale of rye, in the ship, has been made at 84c. and delivered 85c. Corn is dull at 75@76c. Oats—northern 50@51c.

Whiskey—Bbls. are selling at 27c.

THE PEOPLE'S STORE...A couple of sturdy Farmers one coming to, and the other returning from town on the Green Bay road, after having passed the usual salutations, were heard making the following remarks:
"Well, neighbor DOBSON, I have come to the conclusion that it matters but little to us who is our Delegate in Congress, or which party maintains the ascendency, so long as our interests and the interests of our common country are protected; but the great question for us in our new homes, where the people 'earn their bread by the sweat of the brow,' is to discover, first, where we can get the most money for the products of our labor, next, where we can get the greatest amount, and the best qualities of the necessaries of life for that money. What say you, eh?"
"What say I, neighbor SIMMONS? Why, I say that my views coincide with yours exactly on this subject. Nothing has given me so much trouble as them confounded Milwaukie Merchants, and seeing you on your way home with your wagon full of the good things I was just going to ask you who you sold your Wheat to—what you got for it, and where you did your trading. I suppose you have no objection to telling me?"
"No objection at all, neighbor DOBSON, I will answer your questions with the greatest pleasure. I sold my Wheat to SAYR'S—got seventy cents per bushel hard dollars for it, and done my trading at the PEOPLE'S STORE. I have traded there pretty much altogether ever since the Store first opened. He always pays me the highest price for what I take to market, and sells me whatever I want a great deal cheaper than I can buy at any other store.—Cloth at four shillings, Shoes at from two shillings and six pence to one dollar, Hats at one dollar and a quarter, Molasses at four shillings, good Sugar at nine cents, and my Wife says that his six shilling Tea is better than we ever bought in York State for one dollar, besides his stock is one of the very largest in town. Why, if one quarter of the stores on the east side of the river had such stocks, they would make the greatest noise about it you could imagine. You can scarcely call for an article that he has not got—no old shop keepers lying around, everything looks new and good, and how he can afford to sell so cheap when all the other store keepers are complaining about the advance of prices, I cannot tell, but certain it is the People have found him out, and there are constant streams of customers going in and out of his store, and it is really amusing to see how happy they all look as they go home with their arms, baskets and wagons filled with Dry Goods, Groceries, or whatever else they may have wanted, not only that, he treats his customers, rich and poor—Americans—Irishmen—Dutchmen—all men—alike. It is emphatically the PEOPLE'S STORE, and I recommend you and all my friends and neighbors who want to be prepared for a rainy day, to sell your produce and do your trading at HENRY SAYRS' PEOPLE'S STORE."
"Where did you say that store is, neighbor SIMMONS?"
"In the West Ward, near the American House, just before you turn to cross the Spring street bridge. You'll see a large sign over the door—

WHEAT WANTED, at the late stand of J. & L. Ward.—The subscribers will pay cash and the highest price for any quantity of good winter Wheat at the above stand. They will also make liberal advances on Flour, and sell on commission, or ship east. They also inform their friends and the public generally that they have received a large stock of Fall and Winter Goods, comprising a well selected assortment, among which may be found DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY and HARDWARE. They would say to the public that their stock is too large to enumerate, and they would therefore invite them to call and examine for themselves. They pledge themselves that nothing shall be wanting on their part to satisfy their customers. They are selling Goods as low as any other establishment in the city. ☞ Don't forget the spot, at the late stand of J & L Ward, 129 East Water street, one door south of the Big Boot. nov25 GALE, BURROWS & Co.

POSTSCRIPT.

BY LAST NIGHT'S MAIL.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21, 1845.

Everything looks pacific and prosperous, both in our foreign and domestic relations. I have conversed with several Western members, who speak reasonably and sensibly on the Oregon question, and who, while claiming up to the 54th degree as our own, are by no means disposed to close the door on negotiation, or assume the responsibility or hazard of a war. Important despatches have been received from Mr. McLane on the subject, detailing the pacific opinion of the Ministry and eminent men of influence in England. Public opinion in both countries will settle the question amicably, and no one will rejoice more at the result than the President. All things look well with Mexico, and a citizen of high standing, unconnected with petty local political quarrels, will be sent there as Minister, and such a man is much wanted—one who will command influence from his standing and character.

Very little will be done with the Tariff at this crisis—the warehouse system I think will be adopted. There is every appearance of a tranquil session. Mr Buchanan will go on the bench—he desires it, and his friends ought not to interpose selfish views. He has capacity and integrity, and if he does not accept the appointment, some one less qualified may obtain it. A re-organization of parties will grow out of the present state of things.—Mr Calhoun goes into the Senate by general desire. The Message and Reports from Departments are nearly ready. A hole has been made in the Treasury by the expedition to Texas and Mexico.—[Cor. N. Y. Times.

COWHIDING.—Alexander Wells, member elect to the Legislature, met Fernando Wood, ex-member of Congress, in front of the Merchant's Bank in Wall street, this morning, and attacked him with a cow hide. We understand that Mr. Wood was considerable injured.
[Eve. Post.

We learn that Col. Pitchlynn, of the Choctaw nation, is now in this city, and remains during the winter, as the representative of his people, for purpose of conducting and settling their business with the Government. Three nations of Indians are now represented here, the Choctaws, Cherokees, and Pottawatamies.
Nat. Intel.

THE SPEAKER.—Dr Davis of Indiana seems likely to be the lucky man, and just for the novelty of having a Loco Foco Speaker from a Free State, we shall be glad to see him elected. R. M. T. Hunter of Va. will have the Calhoun support if there seems to be a look for him, and would make a fair though not efficient officer. Charley J. Ingersoll is talked about as a Tariff candidate, but when the Whigs support him, Tariff or no Tariff, they will know exactly why. Ritchie and Heiss will walk over the course for the printing of the House at least, and Jesse E. Dow, may as well keep his Doorkeepership, for all the chance he has. B. B. French will be Clerk—we think.—[N. Y. Tribune.

FLOUR AVALANCHE!—We counted in our harbor this morning 170 Canal Boats loaded with Flour. These carry, as we learn at the Collector's office, from 450 to 800 bbls. each, averaging at least 600 bbls. This would make a total of 102,000 bbls. Add to this amount 10 large Tow boats loaded, and several vessels loaded and loading, and it will make a total of about 150,000 bbls afloat. Many rods of the dock are covered four tier deep with flour—at least 3000 bbls. Besides these items, immense tows have left for New York for the last three days, and all our flour dealers have their warehouses packed. From these data, some idea may be formed of the immense amount of this all important article which has been poured into our city for the last 8 or 10 days.
[Alb. Eve. Jour. Wednesday.

The steamboat Cleveland is still on the upper lakes. Fears are entertained that if she meets with no other disaster, she will be obliged to winter above. With the present weather, all navigation must soon cease entirely.
Detroit Adv. Dec. 6

MINISTER TO MEXICO.—It is rumored that John Slidell, M. C. from Louisiana will be sent as special Minister to Mexico,

S CAROLINA SENATORS.—We understand from an authentic source that the resignation of Judge Huger is now in the hands of the Governor; and that the promise of Mr. Calhoun to accept the office was a condition precedent to the resignation of the Judge.—[Hamburg (S. C.) Jour.

PUBLIC NOTICE....Whereas Mathew Dickert, of this place might circulate the report that he was, or is now in co-partnership with me, and whereas there might be persons who on that account would give credit or loan money to him—therefore I hereby publicly declare, that I never was in, or will enter into co-partnership with said Mathew Dickert, and caution everybody not to give credit or loan money to him on account of said report. SMITH'S ARITHMETIC....The following Recommendations are from Mr. E. ROOT, Principal of the Prairieville Academy.—"Smith's Arithmetic, for advanced Scholars is a most excellent work. It contains a more ample and lucid exposition of the principles of the science than any other work now in use.—The chapter upon fractions, interest and proportion are particularly inviting to the attention of the scholar. The notes and explanations in the margin, and the additional matter contained in Part Third, embrace the value of the work.
"The Geography and Atlas, by the same author, are publications of sterling value. The Geography contains all the information wanted in a work of the kind, and very judiciously arranged. The last edition of the Atlas contains several new & beautiful maps on a very enlarged scale. They are very valuable contributions to this branch of study in our Schools.
"'Elocution Made Easy,' is the work of an experienced teacher. It contains practical rules and illustrations, well adapted to the capacities of young persons, and if the plan of the author is followed, it cannot fail to secure a chaste and elegant enunciation."

EMPIRE Hot Air COOKING STOVE. L. J. FARWELL—Rogers' Block, on East Water street—Now offers to the public this approved Cook Stove, of different sizes, to suit small families, or large Boarding Houses or Hotels. The high character which this Stove has obtained wherever it has been introduced, is a guaranty of its excellence. The complete success which has attended the introduction of hot air into the oven, and other improvements in the construction of the Empire Stove, justify him in warranting them to bake equally as well as a brick oven, and to perform all other operations in cooking with 30 per cent less fuel than any other cooking stove now in use.
An examination of the stove will ensure its sale, and a trial of it fully realize all reasonable expectations.

THE EXCITEMENT at EMERY'S CONFECTIONERY!!—STATEMENT OF FACTS'—The proprietor, whose shop is on Wisconsin st., a few doors above the Bookstore of Hale & Hopkins, deems it proper, and begs leave respectfully to state, that in regard to the movement about his shop on account of the arrival of so large a stock of Goods in his line, the excitement was not as great as might have been expected, nor did his shop or Goods receive any material damage. That such an unprecedented arrival of TOYS, FANCY ARTICLES and SUGAR FIXINGS, should create quite a stir among the juveniles, as well as those of more mature age, is not surprising. He is however, happy to state that the crowd (who had assembled only to gaze on the endless variety comprising his stock,) were easily dispersed, all perfectly satisfied that the greatest lot of pretty TOYS, FANCY BOXES, DOLLS and CONFECTIONERY that they ever did see, is to be found at EMERY'S, and quietly though anxiously wait the annual visit of Old Santaclaus, richly laden with the good things to be found at this establishment.
The proprietor, thankful for past favors and expecting in a few days to move to his new shop, nearly opposite his present stand, will then be able to spread out his stock of valuables, and respectfully solicits a continuance of the patronage of the public. The public generally are invited to call at this establishment, where all the varieties of an eastern city confectionary may be had. Molasses Candy as usual at the reduced rates.
☞ Country merchants and dealers supplied as usual with Candies. nov12

25 pieces Hardtimes, all of which will be sold cheap for ready pay. nov24 J. A ARNOLD.

WEST WARD FOREVER!!..R. HOUGHTON takes this method of informing the customers of the late firm of R. HOUGHTON & Co. and the public generally, that the business in future will be conducted by him at the old stand, where he has now on hand a general assortment of DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, GLASSWARE, HARDWARE, NAILS, PAINTS, OILS, &c. all of which will be offered for sale at a small advance from cost, for cash or most kinds of country produce.
Believing the cash or ready pay system to be the cheapest, and eventually the most profitable for the buyer as well as the seller, that principle will be adopted and strictly adhered to. He does not wish to "puff" and boast of his long residence and extensive acquaintance in N. York, great facilities and extraordinary abilities in purchasing Goods, &c., or even say he will sell cheaper than anybody else, but he does wish to say, his motto being "live and let live," and on the principle that a "nimble sixpence is better than a slow shilling," that he will sell "as cheap as the cheapest," the truth of which, he pledges himself to demonstrate to the entire satisfaction of every one who may favor him with a call. nov25

STEEL..STEEL..STEEL...The subscriber has lately received from New-York and Philadelphia, a large quantity of STEEL, consisting in part of the following kinds, which he offers to his customers low for cash

EASTERN WHOLESALE HOUSE DRY GOODS. Milwaukie W T.—SEXTON & CRANE, having leased the new and spacious store, No. 132 East Water street, first door north of United States Hotel, are now offering rare opportunities to country dealers and others who wish to purchase Dry Goods cheap at wholesale. Their stock consists in part of the following
DRY GOODS—Broad, Pilot and Beaver Cloths;
Cassimeres, Satinets, Vestings, Bosoms, Collars;
Dress Goods, of every description, Prints,
Bleached and Brown Sheetings, Linens, Diapers,
Bagging, Flannels, Shawls, &c., in short everything comprising a complete assortment, adapted to the wholesale trade in this vicinity. Also a large stock of FANCY GOODS—Pins, Needles, Threads, Tapes, Ribbons, Buttons, Silks; Twist, Bindings, Cord, &c.
The largest assortment of BOOTS and SHOES in this market. The above stock of Goods were bought for cash, by one of the best buyers in the eastern market, who will spend his time in New York, Boston and Hartford giving his entire attention to selecting and forwarding Bargains to this city. The above stock of Goods will be sold on the most favorable terms, and we pay for no man's credit.
Our motto—No charge for showing Goods. Please call and see us. We will sell you more Goods for the same money than any other House west of Boston. No. 132 East Water street, first door north of the U. States Hotel.

JAMES KNEELAND would respectfully give notice to his old friends that his Stores have been re-built in a new and handsome style, (fire proof,) and that he has removed his entire stock of Goods from his temporary location, No. 3, Cheapside, to his New Stores, Nos. 157 and 159 East Water st., where he has received and is now opening 50,000 dollars worth of assorted MERCHANDIZE, selected with much care and attention, expressly for this market, for the Fall and Winter Trade, which he offers for sale, wholesale or retail, as low as can be purchased at any other House in this city. No 159 is fitted up for DRY GOODS and CROCKERY, and No. 157 for HARDWARE, STOVES and GROCERIES.
He would venture to say that no House in the western country can furnish so extensive and complete an assortment of GOODS as can be procured at his establishment. Persons visiting this city to buy Goods, are respectfully invited to call and satisfy themselves of the above facts.
In conclusion, permit him to say, that no person can feel more grateful for a liberal patronage, and it shall be his constant endeavor to retain that same generous confidence that has been bestowed upon him during his residence in this city. [nov1

Physicians' prescriptions and every kind of Medicine, put up with care at all times of the night or day. may26

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.—Fever one of the most frequent and consequent diseases to which the human body is liable. Its first impression is upon the nervous system; then the vessels of the skin become deranged, producing dryness and burning heat. After this the general system is involved, and the patient sinks beneath the attack, unless relieved by appropriate remedies. Noxious effluvia and various miasms are the cause of fever, being infused through the atmosphere, and then breathed into the lungs, when the poison combines with the animate fluids of the body and is carried by the circulating organs to the remote ramifications of the system. If then, the animal frame is kept in a perfect sound and healthy state, and every organ performing its functions properly, there can be no action of the predisposing cause, which is the noxious effluvia or marsh miasm, with the exciting, which is an impure state of the blood, and depraved condition of the general constitution, and consequently no disease.

For farther particulars and conclusive evidence of its superior value and efficacy, see pamphlets, which may be obtained of agents gratis.

Prepared and sold, wholesale and retail, by A. B. SANDS & Co. Druggists and Chemists, 273 Broadway, New York. Price one dollar per bottle, six bottles five dollars. For sale by [oct5] L. J. HIGBY.

SAY! STRANGER—have you been in LUDINGTON & Co's Store on the corner, since they have received their Fall stock of GOODS? If you have not, I really advise you to go. It is a strange thing indeed to see such a quantity of Goods, and so equal an assortment, in any one store. I have often heard people say that they had a very large stock of Goods, but I never had an idea that their stock was so tremendously large. I have been all around town, in their "Wholesale Stores," "Cheap Cash Stores," "One Price Store," "Great Excitement" Stores, "25 Per cent. less than any other House in the Territory" stores, "Fancy Stores," "New Stores," "Western Stores," &c. &c. but after visiting all, I put LUDINGTON & Co's store down at extra No. 1. You will find them willing to wholesale or retail Goods cheap for cash, at one fair price, without the least excitement, not 25 per cent. cheaper than any other store in town, and they have a fine assortment of Fancy Goods, and will sell as cheap as can be bought at any new store in this Western country. They have, according to the best authority and my own observations, the largest and best selected assortment of Goods in Milwaukie, and their prices appear to give first rate satisfaction among the people. It appears strange, but it is nevertheless true, that they should sell so many Goods to so many people. Why! you can hardly go into any town in Wisconsin, but what you will see undoubted evidences that they are doing a tremendous large business. As far out as the Mineral region—yes! miles farther you will see dry goods boxes, barrels, kegs, &c. &c. with Ludington & Co's name on, which is a strong indication that they were sent there from their store, filled with Goods. Ask the principal residents of Milwaukie, Washington, Dodge, Walworth, Portage, Fond du Lac, Marquette, and numerous other counties, where they buy their dry goods, groceries, hardware, crockery, boots and shoes, leather, stone ware, wooden ware, sash, glass, ropes, paints, oils, pork, fish, salt, lumber, lath and shingles, and Minor & Horton's celebrated, unrivaled Ploughs—they will tell you at the "Old Corner Store" in Milwaukie. Ask them still farther, where they sell their produce, wheat, corn, oats, barley, timothy and flax seed, beeswax, hides, &c. &c. and who gives the highest cash price, and they will tell you LUDINGTON & Co. of Milwaukie. oct9 C.M.

STICK TO THE OLD STAND!!—The subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he continues to manufacture all kinds of CABINET WARE at the old stand, on Huron street, north side; and that he is prepared to execute all orders in his line, at the shortest notice, in the best style, and on the most reasonable terms. His supply of materials is abundant and well selected; his patterns conform to the latest eastern fashions; and he employs none but first-rate workmen. Thankful for the patronage heretofore received from the citizens of Milwaukie and its vicinity, he hopes, by close attention to business and by punctuality in fulfilling orders, to merit a continuance and enlargement of the same. Having dissolved partnership with David Romer, he will henceforth give his personal attention to all work executed at his shop, and he flatters himself that none who give him their custom will find any reason to regret it. Remember the old stand, north side Huron street. Milwaukie, nov15
JOHN MURPHY.

ALONE AND UNINCUMBERED! The undersigned begs leave to say to the citizens of Milwaukie that he has dissolved partnership with Mr. Murphy, and has opened a new Shop in Huron street, nearly opposite the United States Hotel, where he continues business ALONE! For the evidence of his skill as a Cabinet Maker, he would point to the great variety of articles of Furniture, &c. which he has manufactured during the last two years; and he would add that all orders left at his new Shop, for any and every description of CABINET WARE, will meet with the promptest attention, and will be executed in the most approved manner. It is his intention to keep none but the very best materials on hand, and to employ competent and skillful workmen; and as it is his determination to spare neither pains nor expense to merit the good opinion of his fellow-citizens, he hopes that they will give him a fair share of their patronage and support. Country Produce and Lumber will be taken at fair market prices, in exchange for any Cabinet Work. nov15 DAVID ROMER.

CABINET & CHAIR WAREHOUSE The subscribers would respectfully announce to their friends and the public in general that they have associated themselves together in the above business, at the old stand of Pratt & Forbes, on Oneida street. R. PRATT would tender his thanks for the very liberal patronage which the old firm received, and the new firm hope by strict attention to business and their superior workmanship to merit the same.—There will be found at their establishment, Mahogany, Blackwalnut and Maple BUREAUS, Blackwalnut & Cherry TABLES, Centre Tables, Sofas, Stands, Bedsteads and Chairs of every description of every description.
